
VOICE OF THE INJURED
RAPHAELSON & LEVINE

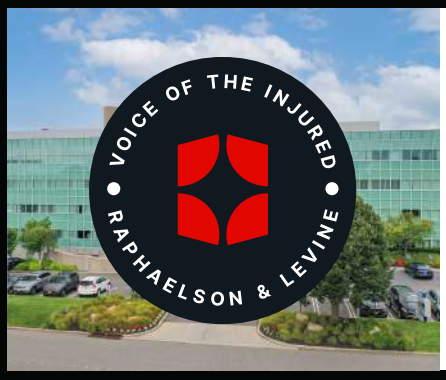

Manhattan Location
14 Penn Plaza, Suite 1718
Manhattan, NY 10122

Call Us
646-663-4782

Queens Location
136-68 Roosevelt Ave, Suite 709
Flushing, NY 11354

Call Us
917-828-3820

Long Island Location
135 Crossways Park Drive, Suite 404
Woodbury, NY 11797

Call Us
516-210-2022

Google · 600+ Reviews

5.0 ★★★★★

From New York, for New York

For the last four decades, Raphaelson & Levine Law Firm has stood as a pillar of personal injury law in New York.

A firm born not just from ambition, but from a powerful desire to help others, and lead those suffering from serious injuries to justice.

LEFT TO RIGHT:

Andrew Levine
Partner, Attorney

Howard Raphaelson
Partner, Attorney

Multi-Million Dollar Advocates Forum

The National Trial Lawyers Top 100 Trial Lawyers

Super Lawyers

Best Law Firms Ranked by Best Lawyers — New York City — Personal Injury Litigation - Plaintiffs Tier 1 — 2025

Best Law Firms Ranked by Best Lawyers — New York City — Personal Injury Litigation - Plaintiffs Tier 1 — 2026

New York Leaders in the Law

Meet R&L

Our Story, Our Roots: The Voice Of The Injured

Raphaelson & Levine is a personal injury law firm committed to New Yorkers. We were built here, raised here and our sole purpose has always been to be "THE VOICE OF THE INJURED" to the people that call New York home.

Unlike many law firms that market themselves as New York firms, but are really out of state operations simply looking to build their business, we are passionate about making a difference for accident victims in our State.

Our story began when Howard Raphaelson, fresh out of law school, founded the firm with a vision to fight for the injured. As the practice grew, Andrew Levine, then a passionate young lawyer, joined the firm forming Raphaelson & Levine.

From day one, Howard and Andrew knew they shared more than just a work ethic; they shared a bond built on trust, empathy, and a commitment to be powerful voices for the injured. That connection evolved into a lasting partnership and a firm defined by loyalty, leadership, and family values. Over the years, the Raphaelson & Levine family has grown. Not just in results but in people.

Our firm's strength is built on the resolute promise to be the "THE VOICE OF THE INJURED" for every person that places their trust in us. Each member of our legal team serves, protects, and advocates for the people who place their trust in us.

Today, this spirit allows us to maximize the value of every case, while never losing sight of what matters most: the lives and futures of the people we represent.

Excellence in service is not just our standard, it is our promise and our tradition, passed down through generations and carried forward by those who lead today.

LEFT TO RIGHT: (Back Row) Steven November, Dario Martinez, Corey Flick, Alyx Lewis, Benjamin Katz, Jason Krakower, Joe Karpowicz, Julia Fayziyev, Salvatore Asaro (Front Row) Steven Gershowitz, Joseph Taylor - Managing Attorney, Andrew Levine - Partner, Howard Raphaelson - Partner, Samantha Guralnick, Jared Dubin

Client Story

Crushed Broadway Stagehand Wins Justice: $6.4M Settlement

The story of a stagehand's tragic accident unfolded during the production of a famous Broadway show. While preparing for the production, our client—a dedicated behind-the-scenes worker—was crushed by a massive fabricated piece of scenery.

The set piece was intended for installation in an elevator shaft that opened directly onto the stage floor. In the aftermath, a group of powerful defendants—including the production company, the theater, designers, fabricators, and general managers—tried to deny responsibility.

They claimed the stagehand was solely an employee of the theater and should be limited to Workers' Compensation.

But, we knew that wasn't justice. We fought to hold every responsible party accountable, challenging the claim that our client had no right to sue. After a hard-fought legal battle, the court sided with us.

The judge ruled that our client was not limited to workers' compensation and could pursue the full extent of his rights.

This decision delivered a measure of justice to our client and serves as a powerful reminder: the people behind the curtain deserve to be seen, heard, and protected.

IN THEIR WORDS

"During the most difficult time in my life, Howard and Andrew took care of me like I was a member of their own family. Howard was always available if I had a question or needed advice and worked relentlessly on my case until the very end. They got me more than I ever thought was possible and I'll always be grateful to them."

Google Reviews ★★★★★

Verified Client

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

New Yorkers Trust Us With Their Most Serious Cases

With over four decades of exclusive focus in New York courts, Raphaelson & Levine brings unmatched institutional knowledge, local credibility, and a network of expert witnesses, trial strategists, and support professionals.

We don't just work in New York, we know every courtroom, every nuance, and every tactic that moves a case toward justice here.

On The Road

- Bicycle Accidents
- Bus Accidents
- Car Accidents
- Hit & Run Accidents
- Tractor Trailor Accidents
- Motorcycle Accidents
- Pedestrian Accidents
- Rideshare Accidents
- Truck Accidents
- Reckless Driver Accidents

In Life-Changing Moments

- Amputations/Dismemberment
- Complex Regional Pain Syndrome
- Fractures w/ Permanent Limitation
- Organ Damage/Failure
- Injuries That Result in Surgery
- Severe Burns
- Spinal Cord Injuries
- Traumatic Brain Injuries
- Wrongful Death
- All Serious Injuries

On Someone's Property

- Slip, Trip & Fall Injuries
- Snow & Ice-Related Falls
- Elevator & Escalator Injuries
- Roadway Bollard Injuries
- Sidewalk Injuries
- Stairway & Handrail Injuries
- Dog Bites & Animal Attacks
- Fire & Explosion Injuries
- Plane Accidents

On The Job & At Work

- Falls From Heights
- Struck-by Falling Objects
- Electrocution Accidents
- Caught-in/Between Injuries
- Trench & Excavation Injuries
- Defective Machinery
- Toxic Substance Exposure
- Job Site Slip, Trip, & Falls

We treat our clients as real people, like family. Your legal team includes the attorney working daily on your case, a dedicated paralegal, and one of the firm's partners who remain actively involved from start to finish. You are respected, and always part of the process.

Real Results, Real Lives Changed

From catastrophic injuries and toxic exposures to construction, auto, and transit accidents, we've recovered over for New Yorkers, because we never forget who we're fighting for.

$1 Billion

Client Story

Apartment Fire Hero Recovers Life-Changing $6.55 Million Settlement

In the heart of Manhattan's West Village, a Brazilian-born woman who had called New York home for over 25 years suffered life-altering burns when a towering, dried-out Christmas tree ignited a devastating apartment fire. The 20-foot tree, situated in a lower level with soaring ceilings, transformed into an inferno, engulfing the space in seconds.

Despite the danger, our client courageously rushed to save a friend who was directly in the fire's path.

Her heroic actions left her with severe burns to her face and body, requiring months of hospitalization and grueling recovery.

But her strength and determination never wavered, and neither did ours.

At Raphaelson & Levine, we refused to let this survivor face a future of uncertainty. Our team conducted a nationwide asset search that uncovered substantial personal assets of the defendants, ultimately compelling them to contribute $1 million dollars beyond the full limits of their insurance coverage.

Through meticulous legal work and an unwavering commitment to justice, we secured a multi-million dollar award to provide lifelong financial security.

Our client is not only a survivor, she's a hero. And like the FDNY who fought the flames that night, she inspired us to leave no stone unturned in the pursuit of justice.

"It was an honor to stand beside a woman whose resilience redefined strength. She reminded us why we do this at Raphaelson & Levine: to honor courage, restore dignity, and help extraordinary people move forward."

Howard Raphaelson
Partner, Attorney

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$8,500,000 for a young child struck by debris from a building under demolition

$8,000,000 for a construction worker injured in a fall caused by a roof demolition

$6,400,000 for a construction worker struck by a steel beam at their worksite

$6,300,000 for a gym member injured at a commercial fitness facility in the Bronx

$6,200,000 for a construction worker who was crushed by a collapsed piling

$6,000,000 for a Queens construction worker injured due to a scaffold collapse

$5,750,000
for an HVAC contractor injured in a fall-from-heights

$5,400,000
for a client with catastrophic burns from a premises fire

$5,300,000 for the family of a young father fatally injured in a train crash

$5,000,000 for a Long Island restaurant employee who fell due to a defective ladder

$4,900,000 for a construction worker injured after falling through a roof on their worksite

$4,407,596
for a union bricklayer injured by falling debris on the jobsite

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

When A "Maximum Recovery" Isn’t Enough: $3.75M Settlement

Every morning, our client pedaled to work—a dedicated 31-year-old single mother simply trying to earn a living for herself and her special needs child.

That routine commute became a nightmare when a turning vehicle slammed into her bicycle, leaving her with devastating injuries to her neck, shoulder, back, and knee.

The car dealership's insurance company quickly offered $25,000, claiming it was their policy limit. Her first attorney accepted this as the "maximum possible recovery" and advised her to settle. But when you're facing a lifetime of pain and medical bills, $25,000 doesn't come close to justice.

At Raphaelson & Levine, we immediately recognized what other attorneys missed.

Through aggressive investigation, we discovered the driver wasn't just anyone. He was the local dealership manager, using that vehicle in the course of his employment.

This changed everything. We brought suit in Bronx Supreme Court, engaged life care planners to document her future needs, and fought to tell her complete story. We turned down multiple seven-figure offers because we knew her true worth.

The result? A $3.75 Million settlement—150 times what she was initially told was "maximum."

IN THEIR WORDS

“I couldn’t have prayed for a better firm. Everyone was amazing. They made sure I understood everything thoroughly and that I was comfortable every step of the way. It was a very hard time for me but they were always just a phone call away. I am beyond grateful to have had this firm take care of my case. Forever thankful!”

Google Reviews ★★★★★

Verified Client

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$3,850,000 for a bicyclist who was rear-ended by a NYPD tow truck

$3,750,000 for a bicyclist hit by a vehicle turning left at an intersection in the Bronx

$3,750,000
for carpenter injured while working atop a NYC skyscraper

$3,750,000 for a client hurt in a fall-from-heights due to a defective ladder

$3,500,000 for a driver injured by a reckless motorist driving in a dealership vehicle

$3,025,000 for a passenger whose vehicle was struck by a trailer on the highway

$3,000,000 for a window cleaner injured by falling glass at work

$3,000,000 for a young child who was paralyzed due to a defective product

$2,800,000
for two passengers injured in a rear-end car collision

$2,750,000 for a Nassau County construction worker struck by an excavator tie-back rod

$2,750,000 for a worker injured in a scaffold crash on a construction site

$2,500,000 for the family of a man fatally injured in an airplane crash

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

Defendants Held Liable for Systemic Negligence: $3.58M Settlement

While working on a major City of New York construction project, our client, a 46-year-old electrical foreman, slipped and fell on untreated snow and ice between job trailers at their job site.

Despite walking cautiously in proper footwear, he lost his footing due to hazardous conditions that had been ignored by multiple contractors and agencies tasked with site safety.

The fall resulted in a catastrophic crush injury to his left ankle, requiring multiple surgeries, hardware implantation, and ultimately a left ankle fusion. Once an active worker, husband, and father of two young daughters, our client was left permanently disabled, enduring relentless pain, loss of mobility, and the devastating impact of Complex Regional Pain Syndrome (CRPS).

The defendants, including the City, contractors, and construction managers, refused to accept responsibility for the dangerous site conditions, attempting to avoid liability under a web of contractual finger-pointing.

We cut through the red tape. Through relentless advocacy, expert testimony, and powerful visual evidence, we demonstrated how the system failed our client.

This case exposed systemic negligence, and the human cost of ignoring basic safety.

Our work ensured that our client's suffering was recognized, his voice heard, and his future supported.

"CRPS can turn a single fall into a permanent condition. When pain becomes the injury, insurers often try to minimize it. We document the full impact and fight for long-term care and support."

Andrew Levine
Partner, Attorney

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$2,500,000 for a 46-year old electrician injured in an weather-related slip and fall

$2,500,000
for a laborer injured during a construction site fall

$2,400,000 for a union bricklayer injured from falling debris at a construction site

$2,250,000 for a Bronx student struck by a school bus that ran a red light

$2,250,000 for a construction mason who fell due to a defective construction scaffold

$2,200,000 for a woman injured in a head-on vehicle collision

$2,200,000 for a teaching aid with an improperly diagnosed condition

$2,200,000 for a construction worker struck by a falling carpet roll

$2,000,000 for a Brooklyn construction worker with a worksite shoulder injury

$2,000,000 for a client who suffered a serious arm injury during a bed installation

$2,000,000 for a motorist who suffered back and leg injuries in a rear-end car crash

$2,000,000 for a 43-year old truck driver injured on the Long Island Expressway

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

Lies Exposed, Justice Delivered for Crash Victim: $2.25M Settlement

Our client, a dedicated Long Island nurse, was on her routine commute to care for others when her own life was upended in an instant.

A driver, recklessly making a left turn while in a rush, turned directly in front our clients car —causing a violent collision that left her with severe facial trauma and a traumatic brain injury.

Among the lasting consequences was trigeminal neuralgia, a debilitating facial pain syndrome often described as one of the most excruciating conditions known to medicine.

The physical and emotional toll altered every aspect of our client's daily life.

The defense tried to shield themselves from responsibility by claiming the driver that made the left turn had the green arrow.

But at Raphaelson & Levine, we demanded the truth. We fought in court to access the vehicle's GPS data and successfully obtained traffic video from the Department of Transportation. The facts were clear: the defendant had been speeding and never had the protected green turn that she had claimed.

Our relentless investigation dismantled the defense and empowered our client to reclaim her voice—and her right to justice.

IN THEIR WORDS

"Raphaelson & Levine are in fact 'The Voice of The Injured.' I will be forever grateful for their incredible expertise in championing every aspect of my case, and achieving the resources to secure my future.

I am so thankful I was referred to them."

Google Reviews ★★★★★

Verified Client

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$1,944,803
for a Bronx motorist rear-ended by a driver who ran a stop sign

$1,981,083
for a motorist hit by a car making an improper lane change

$1,850,000 for a 52-year old carpenter injured in a workplace slip-and-fall

$1,800,000 for the family of two brothers fatally injured in "wrong-way" crash

$1,800,000
for an young pedestrian struck by a bus while crossing the street

$1,800,000 for a Kings County window installer struck by a heavy machine on the job

$1,800,000 for a steamfitter injured on a while working on a construction site

$1,800,000 for a laborer injured in a fall-from-heights due to a defective scaffold

$1,750,000 for a worker who suffered brain damage after a fall-from-heights

$1,750,000 for a truck driver who suffered brain damage during a warehouse fall

$1,750,000
for a bus passenger injured while boarding a NYCTA bus

$1,750,000 for a worker who suffered a severe spinal injury during a fall-from-heights

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

When An Apartment Became A Danger Zone: $1.75M Settlement

Imagine stepping into your own shower after a long day, the one place where you should feel completely safe. That's exactly what our client was doing in her Bronx apartment when her world literally came crashing down.

As she shampooed her hair, the ceiling collapsed without warning, slamming her to the ground under a crushing pile of sheetrock and debris.

The impact left her with a serious cervical spine injury requiring fusion surgery, a procedure where surgeons permanently implant a metal rod to stabilize her neck. At 31, she now lives with hardware in her spine and the daily reality of chronic pain.

You might wonder: how does a ceiling just collapse? The answer often lies in negligence that could have been prevented. Through our investigation, we discovered the landlord knew about the persistent leak from the apartment above but chose to ignore it. Month after month, water damage weakened the ceiling structure while they prioritized profits over tenant safety.

At Raphaelson & Levine, we held this landlord accountable for putting our client's life at risk. Our advocacy secured a seven-figure settlement that acknowledges both her suffering and ensures her future care needs are met.

IN THEIR WORDS

"The best lawyers I ever had, this firm is wonderful. Thank you so much. I would recommend them to anyone."

Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

"When a landlord ignores dangerous conditions, documentation becomes power."

Andrew Levine
Partner, Attorney

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$1,700,000 for the family of a retiree who was fatally injured by a delivery truck

$1,700,000
for a hotel worker struck by a reversing delivery truck

$1,635,000 for a motorist seriously injured in a Suffolk County car crash

$1,600,000 for a apartment resident who slipped and fell due to a leaking pipe

$1,575,000 for a Queens resident who trip and fell due to a defective stairway

$1,550,000 for a construction worker hurt in a job-site trench collapse

$1,500,000 for a warehouse worker who suffered an ankle injury in a forklift crash

$1,500,000 for the family of a Brooklyn teacher killed in a crosswalk

$1,500,000 for the family of a pedestrian fatally injured by a city bus

$1,500,000 for the family of a young woman fatally injured in airplane crash

$1,500,000 for a mason and shop steward seriously hurt in scaffold accident

$1,500,000 for a construction worker injured in a scaffolding fall

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

Worker Wins Despite MTA's Attempted Cover-up: $2.5M Settlement

Our client was driving under a New York City bridge when tools and construction materials—carelessly left unsecured by MTA workers—came crashing through his windshield.

The violent impact caused serious bodily injuries and left him unable to return to work or provide for his child.

As a single father, our client faced additional fear and uncertainty, but that didn't stop Raphaelson & Levine from fighting for his dignity and his future. The MTA denied responsibility, attempting to shield itself behind layers of bureaucracy and shifting-blame.

But, when their employees were brought to the stand, our cross-examination exposed the truth: the MTA was at fault, and supervisors had tried to cover it up to minimize risk.

The court granted summary judgment in our client's favor, and he was ultimately awarded a multi-million dollar settlement.

In a moment that moved our entire office, our client returned.

Not just to say thank you, but to cook a meal for our whole team as a gesture of deep gratitude for helping him reclaim the ability to care for his child and rebuild his life.

"MTA buses are equipped with cameras that capture nearly every angle of a ride. We aggressively use New York's laws to secure, preserve, and analyze that evidence. By demanding transparency and accountability, we empower our clients with the proof they need to pursue justice with strength and confidence."

Howard Raphaelson
Partner, Attorney

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

$1,500,000 for a woman with pre-existing conditions hurt in a car crash

$1,500,000 for a Bronx motorist rear-ended by a NYC Dept. of Sanitation vehicle

$1,500,000 for a union ironworker injured on a job site elevator

$1,400,000 for a motorist seriously injured in a rear-end car crash

$1,400,000 for a Brooklyn worker hurt during installation a commercial job site

$1,350,000 for a 22-year old elevator mechanic injured on the job

$1,300,000 for a motorist injured in a head-on collision with a wrong-way driver

$1,300,000 for a pedestrian hit by a car while crossing a street in the Bronx

$1,300,000
for pedestrian struck by a vehicle whose driver ran a stop sign

$1,300,000 for a 50-year old pedestrian struck by a motor vehicle

$1,150,000 for a Bronx motorist that was rear-ended by a sanitation truck

$1,100,000 for a laborer injured while handling wallpaper on a construction site

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Client Story

A $25 Repair Could Have Prevented Serious Harm: $1.6M Settlement

When you're already disabled and struggling to make ends meet in public housing, the last thing you should worry about is your own home becoming a danger zone.

But that's exactly what happened to our client, a disabled NYCHA resident who had been fighting for months to get a simple pipe leak fixed in her bathroom.

She'd done everything right. Five calls to 311. Multiple complaints to building management. She even took them to housing court and won, securing a court order demanding repairs.

Yet still, nothing changed. Night after night, she carefully navigated around the growing puddle from that broken pipe, knowing one wrong step could be catastrophic.

That wrong step finally happened. As she woke up to use the bathroom, her foot hit the water and she came crashing down; suffering serious injuries to her back, neck, ankle, hip, knee, leg, and shoulder. A $25 repair had been ignored until it was too late.

The defense tried to claim her pre-existing disabilities meant she couldn't recover. They were wrong.

At Raphaelson & Levine, we understand New York law protects accident victims like our client, even with pre-existing conditions.

Working with top medical experts, we successfully proved her injuries were significantly exacerbated by this preventable fall.

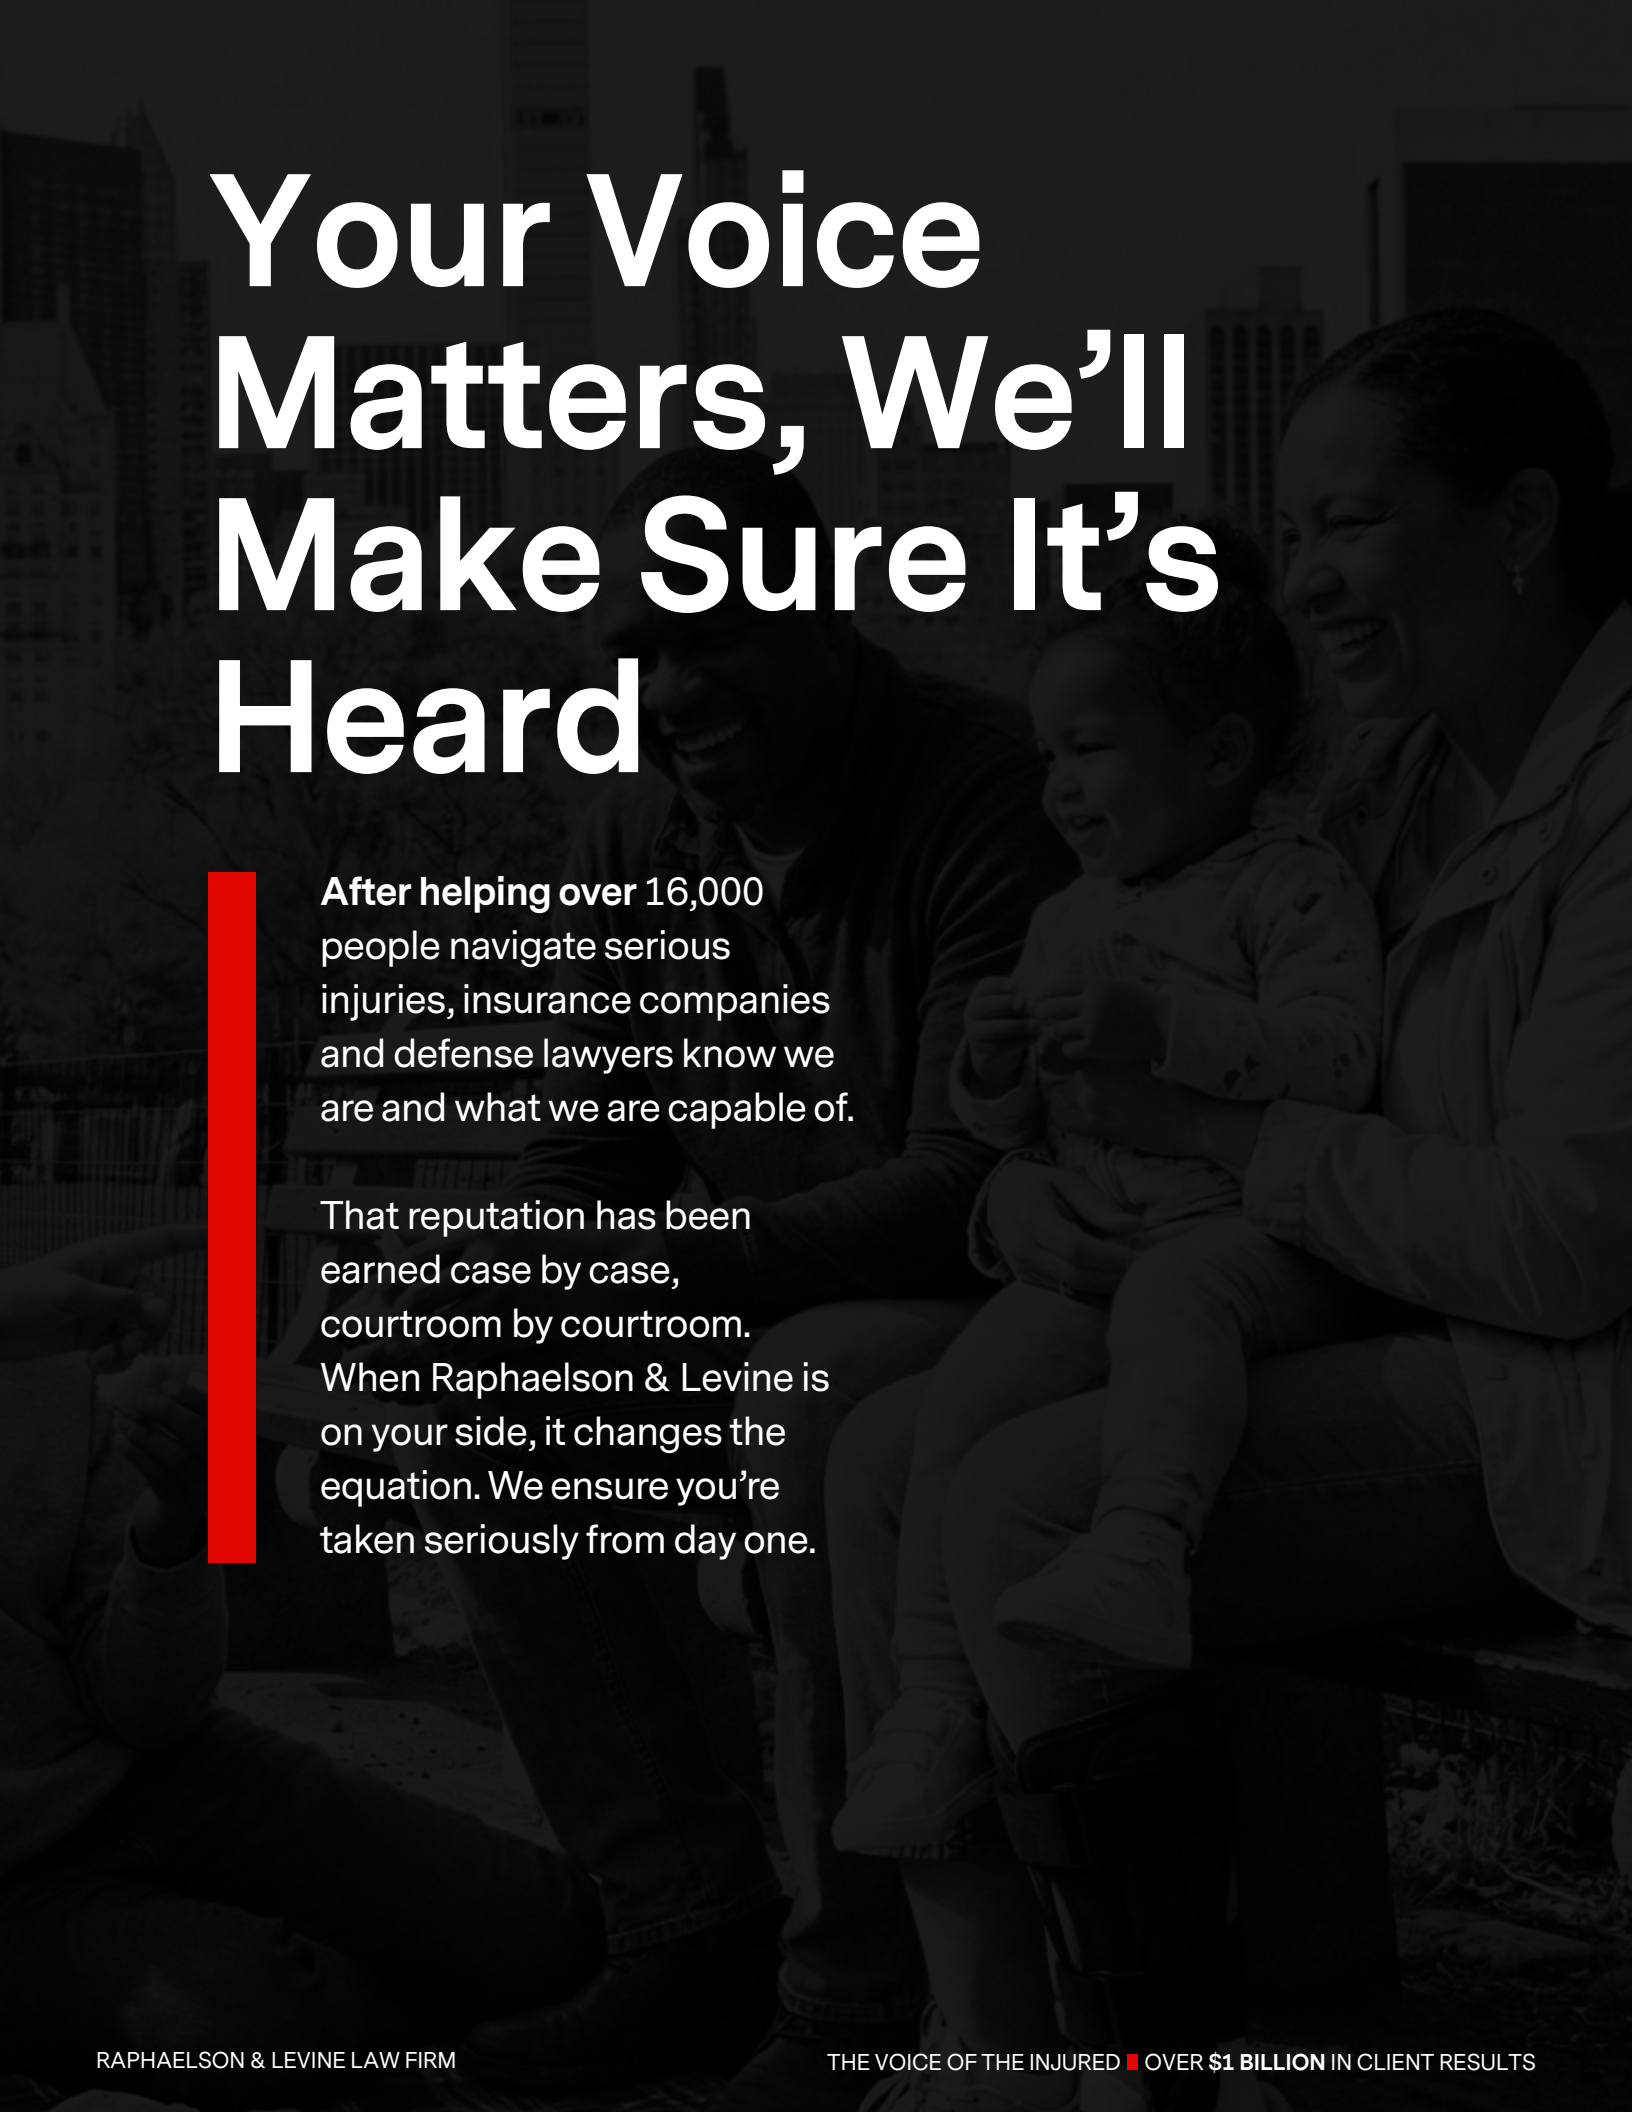

When landlords ignore court orders and tenant safety, we make sure they're held accountable.

IN THEIR WORDS

"I am very grateful for everything you and your team did for me. And appreciated for all the help. Thank you!"

Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

Attorney Advertising. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. (New York Rule 7.1(e)(3))

Your Voice Matters, We'll Make Sure It's Heard

After helping over 16,000 people navigate serious injuries, insurance companies and defense lawyers know we are and what we are capable of.

That reputation has been earned case by case, courtroom by courtroom. When Raphaelson & Levine is on your side, it changes the equation. We ensure you're taken seriously from day one.

The attorneys for the Insurance Company said to me ‘You are lucky you switched to Raphaelson & Levine because if you stuck with the first attorney we would have taken the risk and gone to trial and there would have been a good chance you got ZERO’.

Jason B. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

When it was time for a settlement, I had the opportunity to be in the room with Andrew and witnessed his negotiation skills first-hand, as he skillfully applied the perfect amount of pressure to opposing counsel.

Jessica H. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

Best injury lawyers. They answer calls, work hard to get you the best settlement and will go to trial if necessary. They also prepare you for all case conferences. I recommend you call them first.

Chris A. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

These men and women love what they do and remind those who feel voiceless that they do in fact have a voice. They can and will be heard, and what is just will be served.

Vince M. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

When I went to the office to pick up my settlement check It was bittersweet, I was so happy and satisfied with my settlement yet I was sad that I was leaving 'my family.' Every single person on the Raphaelson and Levine team... all truly care and treat you like family.

Lauri L. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

The driver changed his story and reported to the police... Howard Raphaelson and his team were able to secure a video tape from one of the surveillance cameras in that area. It was so much easier to prove our position and fault of the driver.

Jeffrey A. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

When confronting a traumatic personal injury, one does not have much mental or emotional space left for dealing with the endless details... It felt like working with a friend, which is ahuge comfort during a stressful ordeal.

Nicole A. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

Andrew Levine fought like a dog for me in court and went well above and beyond and got me more than twice the money I ever thought was possible to get. Thanks to these guys I can now do things in my life I always dreamed of!

Jonas D. Google Reviews ★★★★★ Verified Client

FAQs

What To Know After A Serious Injury In New York

After a serious injury, most people have questions and not enough clear answers. These FAQs cover the issues we hear every day.

We hope to give every New Yorker the knowledge to understand their legal rights, the deadlines that matter, and whether they may have a claim.

Our goal is to help people make informed decisions about their future, with clear guidance on what to do next.

- How can our injury attorneys help?
  We treat you as an individual, fully invest in your case, guide you step-by-step, and fight for the best compensation using proven trial experience. We work to maximize your compensation in the shortest possible period of time.

- What types of claims does our firm handle?
  We represent all personal injury claims, including vehicle, construction, slip and fall, medical malpractice, wrongful death, abuse, and more.

- What you can expect from our lawyers?
  You can expect us to handle all communication, gather your evidence, find every source of compensation available, file your case, and fight to reduce your liability.

- How is negligence determined in a New York personal injury case?
  Negligence is determined by proving duty of care, breach of duty, and showing the defendant's actions directly caused your injuries.

- How much is my injury case worth?
  Case value depends on your damages and liability. A lawyer can help maximize compensation by proving the other party's fault and your losses.

- What factors can influence the value of my personal injury settlement?
  Settlement value depends on your medical bills, injury severity, lost wages, fault, property damage, insurance, and injury location.

- What should I after an accident?
  After an accident: get medical help, record accident details, keep medical records and evidence, and avoid statements to insurers before consulting a lawyer.

- Does my immigration status affect a case?
  No. Immigration status does not restrict your rights to pursue a personal injury case in New York. Whether you are a U.S. citizen, legal resident, or undocumented, you have the legal right to file a personal injury claim and seek compensation for your injuries caused by someone else's negligence.

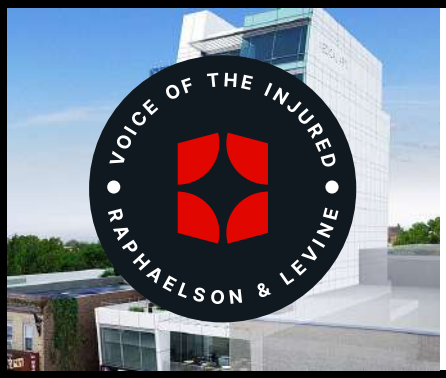

Contact Us

If you've been injured, we're here for you. Contact us today to discuss your legal options. Your case evaluation is free, and always confidential.

Manhattan Location
14 Penn Plaza, Suite 1718
Manhattan, NY 10122

Call Us
646-663-4782

Queens Location
136-68 Roosevelt Ave, Suite 709
Flushing, NY 11354

Call Us
917-828-3820

Long Island Location
135 Crossways Park Drive, Suite 404
Woodbury, NY 11797

Call Us
516-210-2022

Raphaelson
Levine